

DreamWalker Birth

To hold a newborn baby in your arms is probably for many people one of the happiest and most touching moments in life.

But where do the children come from? What did they experience before birth? Why is the start into life running so smoothly for some babies and their parents and so hard for others? For some it's full of ease and joy, for some troublesome, traumatic and full of pain. Why does the relationship between the newborns and their parents develop so differently?

Deep inside I had been guessing for many years that there had to be more that would allow us to better understand the circle of life from birth to death. Then DreamWalker Birth showed up in our life and confirmed what I had been sensing already.

The DreamWalker Birth Transition School

- provides a deep understanding and wisdom about how the process of being born (incarnated) really works and also allows new insights for your own life.
- gives you the chance to relive the experience of your own birth once again in a new way that can help to release the stuck energies of old traumata.
- supports expecting parents or future parents to prepare themselves consciously for perception, pregnancy and birth.
- makes clear that parents can make a conscious choice on which child they would like to offer a home and their love.
- supports the future parents to get to know their future child way ahead of birth.
- teaches the knowledge as well as the practical steps for a spiritual pregnancy and birth care (= Doula work). After DWB school the attendees can work as Doulas.
- is also very interesting for grandparents to be, parents planning to adopt a child, godparents, ...
- is very strongly recommended for people that work professionally in the area of ob-gyn and midwifery.
- is the exciting "companion piece" of the DreamWalker Death Transition School.

We were instantly fascinated by the contents and opportunities DWB offers and we are very glad that we are able to present this class to you.

Beside the contents there is an intense energetic process unfolding during the workshop, which allows a profound personal experience in addition to the spoken words.

If you want to feel into the energies of this workshop: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XdTSbbR9Tpc> (intro video).

Seminar language is German, also English if necessary. The workshop includes channeled sessions from Adamus Saint-Germain. The channels are on DVD in English language with German subtitles. Each participant will receive a transcript in German (or alternatively in English on request).
