

DreamWalker Death

One of the most touching moments of my life has been the first DreamWalk that I was honored to do with my mother. She experienced a lot of traumata throughout her life. The last years before her death she often spent in a psychotic state and suffered from a loss of body pain. It took her a long time, until she finally could let go of this incarnation.

In life my mother rejected my psychic and spiritual activities. All the more I was surprised, when she asked me during my own DWD school to guide her on her journey through the non-physical realms up to the bridge of flowers. (During DWD school each attendee gets the chance to go on a guided DreamWalk.)

When my mother went into the light with the angels at the bridge of flowers, I sensed rather strongly, how all the suffering and emotional distress vanished. Eventually she found the peace and the love she had been longing for all her life. At this moment I myself felt the same peace and so much gratitude, for now I was sure, that my mother was well. Eventually she really was "at home".

I have been missing my mother from time to time, of course. But my inner knowing about her being at ease and peace is what really counts and comforts. This experience on its own would have made it worthwhile attending the DWD school. Yet there are many more benefits. I do feel so much passion for this school. I am wishing very strongly that many humans might find their way to this class.

I would recommend to take the DWD class especially,

- if you want to know, what's happening before, during and after death.
- if you would like to let go of your fear of dying and death.
- if you would like to get to know, how you can choose and create a graceful death for yourself.
- if you would like to become a DreamWalker yourself. (Each attendee will get a certificate after the class.)
- if you are feeling resistance to death, for you had to say goodbye to a loved one much too early maybe.
- if you are facing the issue of death at the moment, maybe because of a disease.
- if you work at a hospital, in the areas of elderly care, health care or in a hospice or in the field of funeral system.
- even if you have already been trained in hospice care: The most significant part of a DreamWalker's work only begins where usual death care stops nowadays – with death.
- if you would like to expand your intuition and interdimensional sensitivity.
- just if you feel a resonance

Beside the content there is an intense energetic process unfolding during the workshop, which allows a profound personal experience in addition to the spoken words.

If you want to feel into the energies of this workshop: you find a short introduction video (with german subtitles) here <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cFBhME5TbHU>.

Seminar language is German, also English if necessary. The workshop includes channeled sessions from Adamus Saint-Germain through Geoffrey Hoppe, a guided DreamWalk experience, conscious breathing and discussions. The channels are on DVD in English language with German subtitles. Each participant will receive a transcript in German (or alternatively in English on request).
